

Krill are a type of zooplankton.
Plankton means “drifter.” Plankton are organisms that cannot swim against the current.
Zooplankton are plankton that eat other organisms.

www.pwssc.org

Art by PWSSC employee Emeryl Redwine

You can't krill our holiday spirit

Over 15 species of squid are known to live in the Gulf of Alaska.

www.pwssc.org

Art by PWSSC employee Emeryl Redwine

Over 15 species of squid are known to live in the Gulf of Alaska.

www.pwssc.org

#Squidgoals

Art by PWSSC employee Emeryl Redwine

Otters are a keystone species. They keep the sea urchin population in check which in turn maintains healthy kelp forests.

www.pwssc.org

Art by PWSSC employee Emeryl Redwine

You Otter Have a
Happy Holiday

A “Sea Angel” is a planktonic sea slug that can be found in the Gulf of Alaska. The sea slug has winglike structures called parapodia which it will flap to help swim in open water.

www.pwssc.org

Art by PWSSC employee Emeryl Redwine

Angels we have heard on high....